Welcome Note from Margaret Beels, Retiring Chair

Dear Applicant,

Why join the Board of GLAA?

Thank you for your interest in becoming a Board member of the Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority.

Our objective is “Working in partnership to protect vulnerable and exploited workers”. Our partners range from agencies who, like us, enforce the law, including the National Minimum Wage team, local authorities, and the police. But our partners are also businesses, worker representatives, charities – anyone who shares our mission to ensure workers are paid properly, are treated fairly, that ethical businesses are not undercut by unscrupulous employers who exploit their workers. GLAA also seeks to ensure that those who are guilty of “wage theft” are brought to justice.

Good governance of GLAA is fundamental to its mission. As a Board member you will be part of a team supporting the Executive while also holding them to account on behalf of ministers. All Board members are members of board committees and also have opportunities to engage directly with the wide range of GLAA partners and stakeholders.

Board members bring a rich diversity of skills and experience. You may have a finance or audit or regulatory background, perhaps you have business experience in relevant sectors, you may have seen the impact of exploitation on the lives of workers. You may have first-hand experience of organisations within the range of activities undertaken by GLAA or you may have insight as regards how government machinery works.

As a GLAA Board member you will help to make a difference in an area that matters – the protection of the rights of vulnerable workers. If you have this ambition and relevant skills, then I would encourage you to apply.

Margaret Beels OBE

About the GLAA

The Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority (GLAA) is a Non-Departmental Public Body which reports to Home Office ministers. Its role is to prevent, detect and investigate labour exploitation across the economy, including investigation of labour market offences, with the overarching strategic aim of:

'Working in partnership to protect vulnerable and exploited workers'

The GLA (Gangmasters Licensing Authority) was originally created to protect vulnerable workers and prevent worker exploitation in the agriculture, shellfish gathering, food and drink processing and packaging sectors, following the deaths of 23 Chinese cockle pickers at Morecambe Bay. The GLA's remit was to license labour providers (also known as gangmasters), ensuring those licensed operated within the law and to tackle those engaging in unlicensed or criminal activity.

The Authority regulates activities across the whole of England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland through the mandatory licensing of individuals and businesses. It carries out risk-based inspections, ensures compliance with the licensing standards, responds to specific complaints of abuse, and carries out enforcement action against criminal offenders. There are around 1000 licensed labour providers across the UK who supply temporary contracted workers in the regulated sector. The Government is committed to providing an effective licensing scheme which targets non-compliant labour providers, whilst allowing businesses which meet the required standards to flourish.

The Immigration Act 2016 gave the Authority new powers under national minimum wage, employment agencies, modern slavery legislation and powers to investigate more serious cases of labour market offences. These powers apply in England and Wales only. The GLA was renamed the Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority (GLAA), and provided with additional funding, to reflect these broader functions. The GLAA work closely with other law enforcement agencies such as the police, the National Crime Agency, the Employment Agency Standards Inspectorate and the HMRC- National Minimum Wage team. The GLAA has been leading the multi-agency response to the serious allegations to labour exploitation in Leicester's garment industry.

The Act gives the Secretary of State power to extend the GLAA licensing scheme and also places a requirement on the GLAA to carry out its functions in accordance with the strategy set by the Director of Labour Market Enforcement.

GLAA attaches great importance to its prevention activity, working with higher risk sectors to establish higher standards with businesses who seek to be compliant. GLAA was involved in the creation of the Responsible Car Wash Scheme and has set up protocols with the retail industry, with construction and with garment manufacturers. It has also taken a lead role in establishing a national Level 1 qualification in Workers' Rights and Labour Exploitation to be rolled out in Further Education Colleges.

The GLAA is based in Nottingham and currently employs approximately 120 members of staff with more than half home based. The Board comprises a Chair and up to eight Non-Executive Board Members appointed on merit. Since March 2020, in response to the COVID pandemic, GLAA staff have all worked from home. Its field activities have been curtailed to those that require physical interventions. These are being carried out with additional safety protocols. Board meetings are virtual at present.

It is an interesting time to be a Board member of the GLAA, as it continues to deliver its expanded remit working with its Labour Market Enforcement Authority partners and others, to prevent worker exploitation and understand new trends. These include the impact of changes to labour markets which resulted from Britain's exit from the European Union. The Board has oversight of the effective management of GLAA's resources to ensure value for money is obtained. The Government intends to create a Single Enforcement Body which will include GLAA and planning for this will be a key activity going forward.

Further information is available on the GLAA website.

Role Description

- Job Title: Members, Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority
- Roles: Three
- Remuneration: £270 per day with an expected minimum time commitment of 18-25 days per year
- Appointment: Two years with the possibility of an extension to accommodate for when the Single Enforcement Body goes live
- Location: Flexible – the GLAA base is in Nottingham, and outside of COVID restrictions Board meetings are held there, but the Board members are not required to be based in close proximity. Having the Board members from across the UK broadens the perspective.
- Reporting to: Home Secretary, through the independent Chair

Purpose:

The Gangmasters and Labour Abuse Authority (GLAA) is seeking new Non-Executive Board Members to assist the Chair in providing strategic direction to the GLAA in its mission to protect vulnerable and exploited workers. You will work with the Chair to ensure the GLAA exercises its powers effectively, as well as:

- maintaining and developing effective partnerships at a strategic level with key bodies;
- enabling the organisation to respond positively and constructively to any changes in the GLAA's policy or operational context, e.g. the impact of Britain's exit from the European Union, changes arising from the labour market including establishing the proposed Single Labour Market Enforcement Body;
- providing an effective licensing scheme which targets non-compliant labour providers, whilst allowing those businesses which do conform to the required standards, to flourish; and
- achieving the performance indicators, as defined in the GLAA's business plan.

As a Non-Executive Board Member your key responsibilities will be to:

- work with the Chair and other Board Members to approve the strategic plan, the annual business plan and the budget and operate as an effective, efficient and transparent Board;
- ensure that GLAA discharges its statutory duties and responsibilities, working in close collaboration with key partner organisations, especially with the Director of Labour Market Enforcement (DLME), as the GLAA is required to carry out its functions in accordance with the DLME's strategy;
- oversee the work of the Chief Executive in managing the organisation and ensure that the Executive Team is held to account, monitoring and challenging operational performance and performance against strategy and budget; and
- play a key role in representing the Board and the GLAA with key stakeholders.

Person Specification

It is essential in your supporting statement that you provide evidence and proven examples against each of the selection criteria in Part One only of the person specification, in so far as you are able. These responses will be further developed and explored with those candidates invited for interview, together with the criteria listed in Part Two.

There are no fixed views on the specific professional background or sector for this role. You will be able to demonstrate:

Part One – Essential Criteria

- Experience of operating at board level or equivalent and demonstrate how you can work as part of a team, developing a high performing Board that takes forward the strategic direction for an organisation working in a complex and constantly evolving environment.
- Demonstrable record of creating positive and collaborative relationships with a wide range of stakeholders, in an environment where decisions are taken under tough internal and external scrutiny.
- Ability to develop and implement robust governance arrangements and monitor performance, encompassing financial, performance and strategic risk management.
- Experience of organisational, system or business change to reflect the significant strategic and operational transition GLAA is going through and may face again going forward, notably as plans for the Single Enforcement Body emerge.
- A sound understanding of and strong commitment to diversity, public service values and the principles of public life.

Part Two – Personal skills and qualities

- Good understanding of the business world, particularly in a labour-intensive sector or one with extended supply chains, and the ability to work effectively with business stakeholders.
- Good understanding of the operation of high-end enforcement or regulation in an international context.
- Understanding of the experience of vulnerable workers and/or with getting worker voice heard.
- Ability to work collaboratively using persuasion and influence effectively in a high-profile environment.
- Political awareness and the ability to work effectively as Board member of an Arm's Length Body with its associated governance.

Due Diligence: Please note that as part of the recruitment process, due diligence, including social media checks will be undertaken on the appointable candidates.

Selection Process

This role is being competed in accordance with the Government's Governance Code on Public Appointments¹, which sets out the regulatory framework for public appointments processes. The Code is based on three core principles – merit, openness and fairness.

The Panel for the Member recruitment will be chaired by Damian Johnson (Deputy Director, Modern Slavery Unit) and comprise Suzanne McCarthy (GLAA Non-Executive Board member) and Richard Childs QPM (Pay Review Body member) as the independent member).

The panel will ensure the appointments are made in accordance with the Governance Code. The Home Office Public Appointments Team will acknowledge your application on behalf of the Home Office and keep you updated on the progress of the competition.

At the short-listing meeting the selection panel will assess each application against the essential criteria and decide who to invite for interview. The Government has adapted the recruitment process around the UK's coronavirus restrictions while ensuring a fair and open competition. This includes planning for remote interviews. Further details about the format will be provided to you in advance.

The final decision to appoint to this role rests with the Home Secretary. Appointable candidates may be invited to meet with Ministers before a final decision is made. As a result, there may be a delay in informing candidates of the outcome of the competition.

We encourage a diverse workforce and welcome applications from all suitably qualified people. This appointment is regulated by the Office of the Commissioner for Public Appointments.

Please note: Expenses incurred by candidates during the recruitment process will not be reimbursed except in exceptional circumstances and only when agreed in advance with the Home Office Public Appointments Team.

Terms of Appointment

Nature of Appointment: You are not an employee of the Home Office or the GLAA. Accordingly, nothing in this document shall be construed as, or taken to create, a contract of employment between you and the Department or Her Majesty's Government.

Appointment Term: Your appointment as a GLAA Member will be made by the Home Secretary. The appointment will be for a period of two years with the possibility of an extension to accommodate for when the Single Enforcement Body goes live. Re-appointments can be made at the end of the period of office at the discretion of Ministers, subject to a satisfactory appraisal of performance and mutual agreement. It should be noted that this post is a public appointment; appointments may be terminated prior to the conclusion of the period of appointment.

Remuneration: The role is remunerated at £270 per day. Travel and subsistence expenses incurred on GLAA business will be reimbursed.

Time Commitment: The expected time commitment is a minimum of 18 – 25 days per year, depending on the GLAAs work programme.

Location: Flexible – the GLAA base is in Nottingham, but the Board members are not required to be based in close proximity.

Availability: The successful candidates will be encouraged to take up their appointment as soon as possible, subject to the successful completion of pre-appointment checks and security clearance.

Security clearance: The successful candidate will be required to have or be willing to obtain security clearance to Counter Terrorism Check (CTC) level. Pre-appointment checks will also be undertaken on immigration and criminal convictions. It usually takes between 4-5 weeks to obtain the security clearance. The role will be offered on a conditional basis until the successful candidate has passed all checks. The successful candidate will be encouraged to take up this appointment as soon as possible, subject to the successful completion of all pre-appointment checks.

Confidentiality: You will be subject to the provisions of the Official Secrets Act and required to exercise care in the use of official information acquired during official duties, and not to disclose information which is held in confidence.

Disqualification for appointment: There are circumstances in which an individual will not be considered for appointment. They include:

- people who have received a prison sentence or suspended sentence of 3 months or more in the last 5 years;
- people who are the subject of a bankruptcy restrictions order or interim order;
- in certain circumstances, those who have had an earlier term of appointment terminated;
- anyone who is under a disqualification order under the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986; and
- anyone who has been removed from trusteeship of a charity.

Further advice about disqualification for appointment can be given by contacting the Public Appointments Team on publicappointments@homeoffice.gov.uk

Standards in public life: You will be expected to demonstrate high standards of corporate and personal conduct. Candidates will be expected to abide by the “Seven Principles of Public Life” set out by the Committee on Standards in Public Life (see below, page 14).

Registration of interests: The purpose of these provisions is to avoid any danger of a public appointee being influenced, or appearing to be influenced, by their private interests in the exercise of their public duties.

Public appointments require the highest standards of propriety, involving impartiality, integrity and objectivity, in relation to the stewardship of public funds and the oversight and management of all related activities. This means that any private, voluntary, charitable, or political interest which might be material and relevant to the work of the body concerned should be declared. It is important, therefore, that you consider your circumstances when applying for a public appointment and identify any potential conflicts of interest, whether real or perceived.

There is a requirement to declare any actual or potential conflict of interest you may have in being appointed to the GLAA in a separate form. Any actual or perceived conflicts of interest will be fully explored by the Panel at interview stage.

Political activity: Members will need to show political impartiality during their time on the GLAA and must declare significant party-political activity they undertake in the period of their appointment. Details of the successful candidate’s declared political activity must be published by appointing departments when the appointments are publicised.

The Political Activity Declaration will be kept separate from your application and will only be seen by the Panel prior to interview – the Panel may at that stage explore with candidates any potential for conflict of interest. It is appreciated that political activities may have given you relevant skills, including experience gained from committee work, collective decision making, resolving conflict and public speaking. If, therefore, you have had such experience and you consider it relevant to your application for this post, you may if you choose include it separately in the main body of your application.

Disability Confident: The Home Office is an accredited user of the Government’s “Disability Confident” disability symbol, which denotes organisations which have a positive attitude towards disabled applicants. Applicants who meet the minimum criteria in the job specification are guaranteed an interview. Selection will be on merit. If you wish to apply for consideration under this scheme, please complete the form in Annex B. It is not necessary to state the nature of your disability.

Whether you choose to apply under the Disability Confident scheme or not, you can still ask us to make particular arrangements for you when attending an interview. You can also contact us if you want to discuss the criteria for the role or have questions regarding your application.

Equal Opportunities Monitoring: The Home Office is committed to providing equal opportunities for all, irrespective of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

As part of the application process we ask candidates to complete equal opportunities monitoring information. This will help us to monitor selection decisions to assess whether equality of opportunity is being achieved. The information in Annex C will be treated as confidential and used for statistical purposes only. The form will not be treated as part of your application.

Centre for Public Appointments Database: As set out in Annex B, if you consent, we will retain your CV and contact details for the purposes of alerting you to any opportunities that may arise in future. We will also share your CV and contact details with the Centre for Public Appointments in the Cabinet Office who may use it for this purpose. They may also share it with other Government Departments so that they can contact you about such opportunities. You may withdraw your consent to your information being processed for this purpose at any time by contacting dpo@homeoffice.gov.uk.

Complaints

If you are not completely satisfied with the way your application is handled at any stage of the competition, please raise any complaint in the first instance with the Public Appointments Team at: publicappointments@homeoffice.gov.uk

We will reply to your complaint within 20 days.

If, after receiving our response you are still not satisfied, you may contact the Commissioner for Public Appointments:

The Commissioner for Public Appointments Room G/8, Ground Floor 1 Horse Guards Road
London SW1A 2HQ. Tel: 0207 271 0849.

ANNEX A – THE SEVEN PRINCIPLES OF PUBLIC LIFE

The principles of public life apply to anyone who works as a public office-holder. This includes all those who are elected or appointed to public office, nationally and locally, and all people appointed to work in the civil service, local government, the police, courts and probation services, NDPBs, and in the health, education, social and care services. All public office-holders are both servants of the public and stewards of public resources. The principles also have application to all those in other sectors delivering public services.

Selflessness

Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends.

Integrity

Holders of public office should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might seek to influence them in the performance of their official duties.

Objectivity

In carrying out public business, including making public appointments, awarding contracts, or recommending individuals for rewards and benefits, holders of public office should make choices on merit.

Accountability

Holders of public office are accountable for their decisions and actions to the public and must submit themselves to whatever scrutiny is appropriate to their office.

Openness

Holders of public office should be as open as possible about all the decisions and actions that they take. They should give reasons for their decisions and restrict information only when the public interest clearly demands.

Honesty

Holders of public office have a duty to declare any private interests relating to their public duties and to take steps to resolve any conflicts arising in a way that protects the public interest.

Leadership

Holders of public office should promote and support these principles by leadership and example.
