TEAM UPDATE

New Digital Service for Public Appointments

As some of you will be aware, we have been developing a new public appointments digital service to make it easier to search and apply for public appointment roles. Some of you have kindly fed in your thoughts and experiences during development of this new service and we are pleased to say that we have now started to take the first steps in a phased roll out.

Please take a look at our new 'landing page' that is designed to raise awareness of what public appointments are and the opportunities they offer. Unlike our current website we have been able to include some interesting case study and video content and we are really grateful to the individuals who worked with us on this.

From next month, you should expect to see revised pages with further information about public appointments on gov.uk and you will be able to use the new service to search for vacancies (with a much-improved search function). We will provide links to these pages as they become available. Later in the summer, you should start to see an option to apply online for roles. The existing website will still be accessible throughout the rollout of the new service.
